

"Good food and laughter for a happy ever after!"

Fun Food Network

2015 Annual Report

What a great year it's been!

A 501(c)3 nonprofit since 2013, the Fun Food Network really hit its stride in its second year. With 2015 came a waiting list of elementary schools eager to use our educational shorts, many engaging new productions, unprecedented financial support, and a glimpse of more fun to come.

Our Program Achievements

A WAIT LIST 6,060 KIDS LONG

Through outreach to Title I and underserved elementary schools in the Los Angeles area, we've partnered with 15 schools interested in incorporating our videos in class lessons, potentially reaching over 6,000 children.

ENTHUSIASTIC FEEDBACK

"Your videos will help support [the children's] learning all year."
- an elementary school teacher

HIGH PRODUCTION VALUE

Our original shorts and music stand out! Our 2015 productions featuring fun characters like Sir Like-A-Lot have audiences laughing as they learn.

A HELPING HAND FROM OUR FRIENDS

Building on our successful $20,000 Kickstarter campaign, we have been awarded our very first grant this year from the Murad Family Foundation.

Our Goals for 2016

1

KEEP EXPANDING OUR AUDIENCE

In 2016 the Fun Food Network will spread the word about good nutrition to 20,000 children in Los Angeles - and eventually we'll reach kids all over the world!

2

CREATE EXCITING NEW VIDEOS

Look for 20 new productions full of memorable characters, catchy song, and important lessons.

3

INTRODUCE NEW PROGRAMS

Cooking classes, gardening demonstrations, live shows, and so much more.

4

GROW SUSTAINABILITY

Through the generosity of individuals, private foundations, and companies, the Fun Food Network will continue helping kids (and adults) live more healthily for years to come!
